   The court, after thorough examination of the arguments and evidences presented by parties hereby decides that a defendant is liable to pay 50,000 birr to the plaintiff.

   Can the defendant resort to those provision given under Arts 207-212 of the Civil Procedure to challenge this judgment in the very court it is rendered? (4 Marks)

3. Discuss the prescribed format of oral argument. (3 Marks)

4. Can we say that memorandum of appeal and appellate brief are one and the same thing? (5 Marks)
SECTION VII: HYPOTHETICAL CASE QUESTIONS (35 %)

1. Assume you are the court clerk or assistance of a judge in high court. If you are ordered by a high court president to prepare a draft form for securing bond. Hence please would you prepare securing bond form and show it us. (5 Marks)

2. In a suit in a federal first instance court between Mr. Sami, a victim, and Mr. Dani, a car owner, your boss, Mr. Aleka, is the lawyer of the defendant, the car owner. After the first hearing is conducted, your boss comes to learn that there is a compromise concluded between the victim and the defendant regarding the dispute before the suit is initiated in the court and that the claim of the victim is more than 600,000 Birr. Now Mr. Aleka wants you, his assistant, to present him with a legal memorandum as to whether he can raise the facts he has just learnt as a defence in any way. Can you do that? (15 marks)

On Oct 10th 2000, night officer X who works at the Federal Anticorruption commission received anonymous tip that A and Z, employees of Addis Ababa City Administration, are involved in skewing a land auction in favour of Bibas construction in return of which they received half a million each as a `commission`- people engaged in the practice preferred to call it. The Anticorruption Commission established a task force comprising two police officers and one public prosecutor to investigate the matter. Fearing the suspects` flee, however, police applied for an arrest warrant and obtained it to immediately take A and Z in to custody. Accordingly, the arrest was safely carried out on the 12th of October 2000. Following their arrest, A and Z filed Bail application but it was objected by the prosecutor on ground that the crime of corruption which A and Z are suspected of committing is, ipso facto, non-bailable. The court before which the bail application was filed dismissed the suspects claim and ordered that they remain in custody until the trial court hands down a final judgment over the merit of the case. A and Z, dissatisfied with the court`s decision, filed an appeal before the Federal Supreme Court.

On the other side of the story, the investigation continued to uncover material evidence. While investigating the matter, the task force approached 12 witnesses and interviewed 6 of them; interrogated the suspects after duly warning them of their right to remain silent. Despite successive interrogations, the suspects insisted that they have committed no offence. But at a later stage in the investigation, following X `s soft advice that confession rewards in terms of sentence as well as in their heavenly life; and prosecutor`s promise not to include earlier records, if any, while charging, Z admits he has committed the alleged offence- corruption. Yet, A insisted on his innocence. To consolidate its case, police obtained search warrant and thoroughly searched the suspects` belongings and found some evidence including their pass book (bank) with a staggering sum of money.

Relying on the above findings the commission decided to prosecute A and Z of the crime of corruption. Consequently, prosecutor M who took charge of the prosecution instituted charge before Lideta high court.

BASED ON THE ABOVE FACTS, ANSWER THE FOLLOWING QUESTION.

3. A and Z, assisted by their lawyers, argue before the Federal Supreme court that they have a constitutionally guaranteed right to bail. And this right can only be limited in a manner consistent with Article 19(6) of the Constitution i.e. in exceptional circumstances provided by law. The phrase ‘exceptional circumstances’ does not allow the law maker to make an offence non- bailable ipso facto and thereby erode the constitutional protection. Rather, it limits the role of the law maker to defining the conditions and facts under which bail may be denied. Thus, they conclude, since the Anti corruption law which denies bail apriori is unconstitutional; the petition to be released on bail should be sustained. On the other hand, prosecutor M rejects the above argument and contends that the constitution authorizes denial of bail in exceptional circumstances provided by law. What the Anti corruption law does in the crime of corruption squarely fits in to this exception. Assess the validity of A and Z`s argument. (15 Marks)
